

The following is the transcript from a press conference in which the Secretary of the Army, Ray Dubois, and the Vice Chief of staff of the Army, General Cody, state the new locations for Active Duty Army's Modular Brigade Combat Teams. In this article you will notice a highlighted section which specifically talks about 3d ACR and the movement to Fort Hood.

Since this press conference, we have confirmed that GEN Cody did misspeak when referring to the Regiment redeploying in "late fall." The Regiment is still expecting to be deployed for 365 days, extendable by the Commanding General of Central Command, in accordance with our current orders

The rest of the details about the timing of the move and who may move with the Regiment are still not decided and clear, even though General Cody does give some very broad guidelines, these have not been finalized and applied to each case. Each case is different and will be looked at separately.

We expect that soldiers will have the opportunity to express preferences and the Army will try to meet them. Of course, it is very likely that not all preferences will be met. (5 August)

To view the complete follow the attached link:

<http://www.defenselink.mil/transcripts/2005/tr20050727-3521.html>